Pre-Anesthetic Blood Testing: Our greatest concern is the well being of your pet. Pre-anesthetic blood screening reduces many of the risks of surgery. Before putting your pet under anesthesia, we recommend pre-anesthesia blood work. Many conditions including disorders of the liver, kidneys and blood may not be detected unless blood testing is performed. For these reasons, we strongly recommend that all patients receive blood work before such procedures, but this is especially important for all animals over 7 years of age. The total cost of these tests: $41.00

- Yes, I want my pet to have a blood test performed before anesthesia
- No, I decline this blood test and have been informed of the risks

Feline Leukemia / Feline AIDS test: The American Association of Feline Practitioners and the Academy of Feline Medicine recommend that all cats six months of age or older have a blood test for Feline Immunodeficiency Virus (FIV) which is similar to the human virus HIV. FIV is not the same virus as Feline Leukemia Virus. While your pet is under anesthesia, we would like to take the opportunity to take a blood sample so we run the sample in clinic and have the results in a matter of minutes. Two to three percent of all normal, healthy appearing cats in the United States are FIV positive! Cost is $42.

- Yes, please test
- No, I decline the test and am aware of the risk

Pain Management: While undergoing and after surgery, your pet will receive a pain injection. In most cases that injection will not have long lasting effects. Additional pain medication can effectively control your pets discomfort during the recovery at home and aid in your pet's recovery. Specific procedures, such as cat declaws can be very painful and take home pain medication will be sent home automatically.
